HUERTA'S ARMY ROUTED IN GREAT JUAREZ BATTLE; MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED

Take Flight in Panic After All Artillery Is Captured by the Rebels.

VILLA BACK IN CITY.

Returns With His Victorious Troops and Reviews a Parade of Triumph.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 25.—Gen. Pancho Villa, victor in the most sanguinary battle fought on Mexican soil since the American invasion of 1848, returned to Juarez to-day and was greeted as a hero by the people of the city. After thirty hours of fighting below Juarez, 9,000 Federal troops, the combined forces of Gen. Salazar, Orozco, Caraveo, Rojas and Manilla, at last in flight southward to-day in a complete rout. The casualties on both sides are said to have been heavy, but it is not possible to get an accurate estimate of them.

Villa's army, returning from the battle, began arriving in Juarez shortly before noon, the men in good spirits and well supplied with ammunition which they had captured from the Federals.

Fifteen captured Federal field pieces and fifteen machine guns were brought to Juarez about the same time the rebel army commenced coming in.

VILLA REVIEWS TRIUMPHAL PARADE IN CITY.

A troop review, which was in the nature of a triumphal parade, was at once started and was reviewed by Gen. Villa from an automobile.

Four trainloads of Federal prisoners numbering more than 400 were brought to the city at 11 o'clock, Gen. Villa accompanying them, he riding in a special car.

It was stated that all former rebels who were found among the captives were executed on the spot.

One thousand wounded Federals were left unattended for on the battlefield. Many say the rebels did not reach them.

It is stated that most of the cars used in transporting the prisoners to Juarez were captured from the Federals.

Gen. Felix Salazar, Federal commander of irregular cavalry, was reported by rebels to have been shot in the right side and wounded seriously in the Tuesday fight. Rebels said they saw Salazar carried to a car during the battle.

The end of the battle came late Tuesday afternoon. During the day the Federals had been hard pressed at Tierra Blanca, on the south, where their main body was located, and at Zaragoza on the east, where Gen. Salazar's force narrowly escaped annihilation. Shortly before noon the enemy attempted to turn Villa's right flank at Bauche, and by 1 o'clock a large part of the main Federal body had been rushed to that point.

The fighting was desperate there for two hours, as it was evidently the last hope of the Federals. Gen. Villa threw a portion of his own personal force into the fight, and by 4 o'clock the Federals had been repulsed all along the line. The blow administered to them was decisive and their flight was so precipitate and disorderly that they abandoned all of their twenty big guns.

IDENTIFIES "MAIDA DUPREE."

She Was Really Elizabeth Portis, a Brooklyn Actress.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—The actress who registered under the name of Maida Dupree and who committed suicide in a hotel here Monday night was to-day identified as Elizabeth Portis, of No. 104 Thirteenth avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. The identification was made by Oscar Friedman, a relative, who said the girl had been on the stage since she was thirteen years old. The last time her relative had seen her, Friedman said, she had in her possession about $5,000 worth of jewelry. She wore about $2,000 worth when she ended her life.

WIFE OF BROKER WHO DROPS SECOND SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

JUSTINE SUTTON GRAY.

DIVORCED AND REWED, SECOND DIVORCE SUIT OF MRS. GRAY STOPPED

Broker's Wife, Who Named Attorneys, Drops Action Against Man She Married Twice.

Mystery surrounds the dropping of a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Justine Sutton Gray against her wealthy husband, John Boyd Gray, a member of the Wall street firm of Fuller & Gray, known as "Governor Sulzer's brokers."

Justice Seabury today signed an order discontinuing the divorce action. Friends of the couple say a reconciliation was effected, but attorneys on both sides deny this.

It is known that a reconciliation was attempted by the couple when they met on the eighteenth of this month in the Prince George Hotel, but before the interview ended there was a violent quarrel and the management of the hotel requested them to leave. Later, in the West Thirtieth street police station, Gray charged his wife with attempting to blackmail him. When she appeared in the Yorkville Police Court, he asked that she be placed under bond to keep the peace. Magistrate Nolan threw the case out of court, telling them that it was a matter they ought to patch up between them.

In her divorce complaint Mrs. Gray named Justice Clifford, the well known lawyer, and Jean Hamberger, a Broadway light, as co-defendants. She also said that Gray made $275,000 a year, and that she asked for $1,000 a month alimony and $5,000 counsel fees, and was awarded $250 a month and $1,500 counsel fees by Justice Clifford.

$75 CLERK QUIT AFTER PLANNING $210,000 THEFT

Stole Stock Certificates Here Forged Names and Sold Them in Philadelphia.

HAD $100,000 IN POCKET.

All But $22,000 of the Loot Is Recovered From Safety Deposit Boxes.

James Edward Foye, the 37 1/2 month clerk who posed at the Waldorf as a man of wealth and publicly announced in a Police Court a few years ago that he didn't consider it his duty to contribute a nickel to the support of his destitute mother, was arraigned in Centre Street Court to-day, charged with stealing approximately $210,000. The charge also involves forgery.

According to the information filed against Foye, he stole blank certificates of General Electric and Union Pacific stocks from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, by which he was employed as a clerk, filled them out, and under the pretense of being a wealthy dealer in stocks, but using his own name, he deposited the forged certificates with brokers and borrowed money on them. Pinkerton detectives stated in court that they had recovered all but $22,000 of the proceeds of Foye's transactions.

Foye did not steal any securities from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company. That institution will not suffer a penny of loss because of his peculations. As a matter of fact, Foye did not commit a crime in New York.

The blank certificates he abstracted from the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company had no value. Even after Foye forged signatures to them they were worthless. But he got money on them in Boston and Philadelphia.

Inasmuch as no crime is charged against Foye in this State, he was held today to await the arrival of extradition papers from the Governor of Pennsylvania. He is to be tried in Philadelphia for the crime of obtaining money on forged and worthless securities.

Isidor Kresel, a partner of William Travers Jerome, who represented Foye in the police court, withdrew from the case this afternoon.

But for Foye's overplaying his credit with Charles T. Brown, a Philadelphia bond broker, his fits would not have been discovered for some time and he would have been on his way to Europe in a few days with a fortune in his pockets. Documents found in his possession show that he had made all preparations for a European trip, and was so sure of escaping with the proceeds of his operations that he had outlined his itinerary and fortified himself with a mass of information about various European capitals.

SUCCESS DUE TO THE SIMPLICITY OF HIS SCHEME.

Foye's success—up to the upsetting of his plans by an accident—was due to the simplicity of his scheme. It is another illustration of the fact that if the employees of a big bank or other financial institution are disposed to be dishonest they have plenty of opportunity, at hand for the exercise of their bent.

Foye, who is about thirty-five years old, is a type of the well-groomed Wall street man. He was at one time employed by the firm of which the late John W. Gates was the head. From the Gates concern he went to work for

MAYOR RENAMES CHURCHILL AS HEAD OF SCHOOL BOARD

Issues Statement Declaring He Disregarded All Factional Differences.

SIX NEW NAMES ON LIST.

Mayor Declares the Courses of Study Should Be as Flexible as Possible.

The Mayor to-day made the following appointments to fill vacancies on the Board of Education:

FOR MANHATTAN.
THOMAS W. CHURCHILL, reappointed (President); Dr. IRA S. WILE, reappointed; MISS OLIVIA LEVEN-TRITT, reappointed; MRS. IRA LEO HAMBERGER, who served as a member of the Board of Education from Brooklyn, but who recently resigned because her residence is now in Manhattan, to succeed Louis Haupt; DR. ABRAHAM FLENNER, to succeed Abraham Stern.

FOR BROOKLYN.
GEN. GEORGE W. WINGATE, reappointed; WILLIAM HARKNESS, to succeed H. E. McAfferty; JOHN J. KELLER, to succeed Ernest W. Strassmann; MRS. CHRISTINE TOWNS, to succeed Mrs. J. L. Hamberger.

FOR RICHMOND.
WILLIAM G. WILLCOX, to succeed Henry P. Morrison.

MAYOR SAYS HE DISREGARDS FACTIONAL DIFFERENCES.

In a statement issued with the names of the appointees the Mayor says: "I have acted without regard to any of the factional differences said to exist in the Board of Education."

The problems before the Board are very large ones, and, as I have said, require expert treatment. Generally speaking, I would like to say that in my opinion the courses of study in the public schools should be as flexible as possible, and should take into account the great differences in individual and mental temperament in the school children. It seems to me that we should adapt our studies as nearly as practicable to the individual requirements and capacities of the child.

"I have been importuned by many citizens both for and against various members of the Board of Education who terms I am filling to-day. Many citizens have asked me to reappoint Mr. Thomas W. Churchill, the President of the Board, while a great many others have urged that he be not reappointed. GIVES REASONS FOR FAILING TO REAPPOINT STERN.

"In regard to Mr. Abraham Stern, who is not reappointed, I have very deep regret that I feel constrained not to reappoint him. A very large and representative number of citizens have appealed to me in his behalf, and I very cheerfully bear testimony to the faithfulness and unselfishness with which Mr. Stern has devoted himself to his duties as a member of the Board of Education for a great many years. "I am fully aware of his great service to the Board and of his great interest in its work, as well as his fine personal character. The reason I am not appointing him is that I feel that he has not been sufficiently in sympathy with the progressive measures in the Board and that his continued membership in the Board would prove an obstacle to the reforms that are believed to be necessary."

WOMAN IN AUTO KIDNAPPED CHILD AT SCHOOL DOOR

Daughter of Show Girl and Chief Gunner Guarded by Her Aunt.

KNEW MANY GUARDIANS.

Father Gained Custody of Her When Mother Returned to Stage—Then Gave Her Up.

Little Erna Virginia Roach is only seven years old, but already she has had a full share of the troubles of life. First her mother ran away from her father and took small Erna with her. That was three years ago. Then her father, who is James T. Roach, chief gunner of the battleship Delaware, with a rank equal to that of a colonel, went to court, got the child back and kept her with him till he was ordered abroad for foreign duty. Then her aunt, Mrs. Beale Hamberger of No. 308 Washington place, Brooklyn, took the little girl and yesterday a handsomely dressed woman, who said she was Erna's mother, took her away from Public School No. 11, at Washington and Greene avenues, Brooklyn, and she hasn't been seen since, though the police are looking for her.

Roach married Miss Alice M. Morris, who had been a show girl and who was beautiful, in 1906, and Erna was born a year later. The little family was perfectly happy, according to the husband and father until June, 1910, when Roach was ordered to Sag Harbor. Mrs. Roach said the air didn't agree with her and after a few days she decamped, taking Erna with her. Roach appealed to Supreme Court Justice Hendrick to get his daughter back and when the Justice heard that Mrs. Roach contemplated a return to the stage he decided:

"If you're strong enough to go on the stage you're quite strong enough to live with your husband in Sag Harbor and I order you to turn over the child to Mr. Roach."

So Roach got his little girl back, and Mrs. Roach went to live with her mother at the Wilton, Broadway and One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street and Roach, keeping his daughter with him as long as he could, finally gave her into the keeping of her aunt. He warned Mrs. Hamberger that his wife doubtless would try to get the little girl back and urged her to watch the child as carefully as she did her own little boy and Mrs. Hamberger promised.

She put the little girl in school and told Principal Harding that under no circumstances was he ever to let Erna leave the building until Mrs. Hamberger called for her. Then, each morning, she escorted Erna to school and each afternoon at 3 o'clock she called there to take her home, and the little girl went on and away when Mrs. Hamberger appeared. She immediately telephoned to Police Headquarters in Brooklyn and detectives were set to work to find Mrs. Roach and the little girl.

KIDNAPPED IN AUTO BY WOMAN SUPPOSED TO BE HER MOTHER.

IS ONLY 23 YEARS OLD, BUT MARRIED THRICE

Brooklyn Youth Convicted of Bigamy—Wed Girl Under 19—Sentence Friday.

James Russell Clark, twenty-three years old, had three wives in three years, all of them under nineteen, without the formality of divorcing any of them. To-day he was convicted of bigamy in County Judge Moore's court in Brooklyn.

Clark was first married on Dec. 29, 1910, to Miss Ella Pratt, by Rev. Father Moore in St. John's Church rectory, Brooklyn. On January 4, of the following year, Clark was married to Miss Charlotte Keyes by Rev. Charles R. Edwards. A few months later he was charged with bigamy, but escaped before he could be tried. In March of last year, he was married to Miss May Kost of No. 1043 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, the ceremony being performed in Jersey City.

He will be sentenced on Friday.

$15,000 FOR BAD STREET.

Mrs. Hayman Awarded Damages for Injured Knee in Brooklyn.

A jury in Supreme Court Justice Manning's Court in Brooklyn gave Mrs. Millie L. Hayman of No. 700 Riverside Drive $15,000 to-day against the city for injuries received in an automobile accident.

The street was rough and she was thrown against the front seat of the car so heavily that her knee was injured and she was crippled. She sued the Long Island Railroad, the B. R. T., whose tracks formerly adjoined those of the Long Island and the city. The railroad proved they had removed their tracks and turned the street over to the city.

CHICAGO'S DAY LIKE NIGHT.

Smoke Pail and Heavy Clouds Make Night Necessary.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—This city was plunged into darkness this afternoon by a combination of smoke, heavy clouds and almost motionless air currents. Lights twinkled in office buildings without illumination and acquaintances could not distinguish each other six feet away. Street cars and automobiles used their night lights.

At the Weather Bureau it was predicted that fog would return sometime during the afternoon.

On the Board of Trade it was announced that the State inspectors were unable to examine fresh receipts of grain because of the darkness.

BERTHOLD RICH'S CAR CAUSED TRIPLE CRASH THAT COST FOUR LIVES

Assemblyman Denney, Leonard Cohn, Mrs. Fannie Loos and Helen Schaeffer Victims of Joy Ride in Pelham Parkway.

RICH INHERITED MILLION AND BECAME A SPENDER

Has Figured in Two Other Accidents—His Chauffeur in To-Day's Collision Held in $15,000 Bail.

It was learned late to-day that the automobile which caused the collision on Pelham Parkway this morning, killing four persons and supposed to belong to Bertram I. Rich, was really the property of Berthold B. Rich, one of the best known spenders on Broadway, who inherited a million dollars from his father, upon the latter's death, and since that time has figured in many sensational episodes.

Four persons were killed—two of them women—and four others were injured in to-day's accident.

THE DEAD.

COHEN, EDWARD, of No. 300 West One Hundred and Sixteenth street, President of the Ben Specialty Company, clothing manufacturer at No. 1 West Thirty-third street.

DEWEY, THOMAS F., Democratic member of the Assembly for the Nineteenth District, Manhattan, of No. 300 West One Hundred and Fourteenth street.

LOOS, MRS. FANNIE, wife of Conrad Loos, a "night worker," of No. 300 West Fifty-third street.

SCHAEFFER, HELEN, maid, of No. 300 West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street.

THE INJURED.

FRISON, MRS. ESTELLE, of No. 144 West Thirty-sixth street, described to the police as "friend of B. I. Rich." Skull fractured.

MAHONEY, JEREMIAH, of No. 150 East Thirty-sixth street, chauffeur of the Rich machine. In Fordham Hospital under $15,000 bail charged with homicide, resulting from gunshot wound and skull fracture.

RICH, BERTHOLD B., a garage owner of No. 616 East One Hundred street, out and wounded.

ROSEN, RICHARD, a negro chauffeur for Mr. Cohen. Out and wounded.

When taken to the Fordham Hospital, Rich gave his name as Bertram I. Rich and said that he was secretary and treasurer of the Rich Garage and Auto Company of No. 218 East One Hundred street, but upon investigation The Evening World has learned that the only garage Rich is connected with is the Rich Motor Company, No. 13 West Thirty-fifth street, which is the address given by Jeremiah Mahoney, Rich's chauffeur, who was driving the car at the time of to-day's accident.

BUILT UP A REPUTATION AS BROADWAY SPENDER.

Rich began ten years ago to build up a reputation as a spender and good fellow on Broadway, and it appears that he is still at the work. His chief occupation since the time he inherited the million left by his father, who was a wealthy real estate owner, has been to keep money in circulation.

He has frequently figured in automobile accidents. Invariably young women have been occupants of his car on these occasions. Two accidents of a serious nature in which Rich's autos figured, prior to last night's tragedy, resulted in narrow escapes from death. On Nov. 18, 1910, four persons in an automobile, bearing the license number of Rich's machine, barely escaped with their lives when his large touring car plowed through a stone wall to the verge of a sixty-foot cliff on Crestmont road, Montclair, N. J. The party escaped a fatal attention by fleeing on a bridge and abandoning the wrecked car which bore the initials, B. R. R.

On March 24, Rich and two young
